JAVAJOBS.COM LAUNCHES NEW WEBSITE

New Website Seeks To Successfully Compete As a Leading IT Recruitment Job Board

Coral Springs, FL - November 19, 2004 – JavaJobs.com announced today that it has concluded testing and launched the latest and completely redesigned version of its IT job board website.

JavaJobs.com's new website contains a cleaner façade which showcases its newly developed functionality for job seekers and employers.

Some of the features and improvements that have been added to the website include enhanced search functions, free resume posting and searching, job tracking, resume tracking, search agents, email search agent alerts, resume editing, and competitive job posting rates.

The website is still host to free resume posting and job searching for job seekers. Employers wishing to post job opportunities are able to take advantage of the new features, which allow jobs to be posted quickly and with greater ease. Employers are also able to take advantage of the low-cost of listing their job opportunities, which are competitively priced at $99 and lower with frequency rates.

The launch of the new website comes three months after it was acquired by new management. JavaJobs.com's has set its sight on becoming a strong competitor with the likes of leading Information Technology job boards by using its niche and focus to drive recruiter and job seekers to its service offerings.
